Hancock finds ‘discrepancies’ in mosquito report

Moran says there’s a ‘real simple explanation’

BY CASSANDRA FAVRE
STAFF WRITER

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors on Monday discussed a summary of the Philip's Pest Control contract compliance review.

Hancock County Administrator Eddie Favre said a review was conducted at the request of the city of Waveland.

According to the report, on April 3, the county requested information from Philip's Pest Control regarding compliance with the terms of the county's existing mosquito control contract.

The information requested included: Inventory of vehicles and GPS data for the contract; efficacy testing reports for past two years; explaining why only one type of mosquito is shown; identify state law that requires trapping from March through October; location for trap testing; documentation that mosquitoes have been properly sampled from each zone for West Nile for the past two years; documentation that samples have been sent to the Mississippi Department of Health; documentation of chemicals purchased to support miles sprayed, acreage treated, and miles treated for standing water claims submitted on monthly reports; proof of calibration and droplet testing of the application equipment used for truck #10 and #12.

Favre said the contractor sent in information identifying four vehicles. However, Favre said, the county only received GPS data/vehicle tracking-when-spraying reports from January 16, 2019 to April 12, 2019 for two vehicles.

Favre said that the contractor also stated in the report that the GPS only allows 90 days of backlog.

Favre said there was some "trouble trying to balance the GPS tracking reports with the monthly reports that we get in each month."

According to the report, the GPS tracking report for March 2019 indicates 33 days and 2,401 miles. The monthly activity report reflects 19 days and 3,401 miles.

Favre said the efficacy testing should be done annually.

"The purpose of efficacy testing is to determine the efficiency or effectiveness of the chemical being used to spray the mosquitoes," Favre said. "The testing is supposed to be done on the actual sampling of the mosquitoes that are here in Hancock County. We have no report of that, even though it's required."

With regards to an explanation as to why there is only one species of mosquito shown, the contractor responded in the report that "Jackson currently only tests samples for the Culex species and 99.9 percent of all mosquitoes found in our nets are of the same species."

Favre said the previous

Hollywood Casino in Bay St. Louis on Sunday hosted the Hancock County Relay for Life 2019 at the casino's RV park walking track. Although the event was postponed a day due to rain, organizer Bernie Cullen said the cancer survivor and caregiver turnout set a new record this year. Although it was delayed a day due to heavy rain, the 2019 Hancock County Relay for Life on Sunday was a huge success, organizers said.

"We were really pleased," Relay organizer Bernie Cullen said. "Even though we were delayed a day, I think we had 13 of the 15 teams registered who were able to come out and participate. We had over 43 survivors and their families come out this year and that's a record for us. I was really pleased, because that's why we do it -- to honor them. We're seeing an increased number of survivors and caregivers, and that's really gratifying."

Relay for Life is held annually in Bay St. Louis to honor cancer survivors and caregivers and to raise funds to help those who are currently fighting for their lives. This year's event took place at Hollywood Casino's RV park walking track.

"The only surprise is that we pulled it off so well, considering a lot of people couldn't come out," Cullen said. "Even though our overall crowd was not as large -- we had between 150 and 200 people there -- we had a lot of fun. Everybody just filled in -- there was a real sense of community. Everybody pulled together and got things done."

The theme for this year's Relay was "Lights,

On Tuesday afternoon, emergency personnel responded to an overturned semi-truck on Hwy. 607. Bayside Fire Dept. Asst. Fire Chief Chris Levandoski said the truck driver told officials he was turning onto old Hwy. 90 from Hwy. 607 and someone pulled out in front of him. He couldn't stop fast enough and crashed, Levandoski said. The truck was carrying a load of dirt. There were no injuries, he said. Bayside Fire Dept., West Hancock Fire Dept., AMR, MS Hwy. Supers hear from barber college owner on fairness

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors on Monday heard from Constance Mims, owner of Unique Transitions Training Center, a barber college in Waveland.

Mims said she started her college seven years ago and did her "due diligence" by visiting agencies to explore funding opportunities for the college and students.

She said she's been everywhere from the mayors' offices to the Southern Mississippi Planning.

"The reason I'm here is that I want you to see me," Mims said. "It seems like every time I go and speak to one of these people, they'll say something to me to appease me. But then the moment I walk out, they forget about me or I evaporate."

Camera, Cure." Each of the teams participating chose a movie theme for their respective booths, such as "Jurassic Park," or "The Wizard of Oz."

The event raised money for cancer research, but also to help local cancer survivors with resources such as concealing, transportation to treatments or even wigs.

"We have been very fortunate to have many sponsors who help us all these years," Cullen said, including Hollywood casino. The casino has a golf tournament scheduled May 21, Cullen said, and all the proceeds will go to Relay for Life.

On June 8, Coast Electric is scheduled to host its fifth annual Glow Run for Relay.

Suspect in Biloxi policeman shooting caught in Wiggins

BY JODY O'HARA
STONE COUNTY ENTERPRISE

WIGGINS – An alert off-duty Biloxi police officer was responsible for taking the alleged shooter of another Biloxi police officer off the street Monday evening.

The officer, who lives in Stone County, was returning home when he spotted 19-year-old Darian Tawan Atkinson walking near Hwy. 49 and Hall Street.

Wheeler contacted the Wiggins Police Department and then tracked Atkinson until Sgt. Tim Hill and patrolmen Tyler Roberts and Cody Rayburn could make contact.

The WPD officers pursued Atkinson until they subdued him at gunpoint in a field just north of the Hampton Inn.

"Thank you to the Biloxi officer who ID'd him and to our officers for taking him down," said City of Wiggins Mayor Joel Miles. "That's training in action at its finest."

Atkinson is the suspect in the brazen shooting Sunday night of officer Robert McKeithen in the parking lot of the Biloxi Police Department.

Atkinson faces a charge of capital murder of a law enforcement officer.

His 21-year-old brother, Davian Atkinson, was arrested Tuesday and faces a charge of accessory after the fact.

McKeithen had 24 years of service with the Biloxi PD and was set to retire within the year.

Atkinson had been the target of an intense manhunt in the 24 hours after the shooting.

SWAT teams made up of agents from the FBI, Mississippi Bureau of Investigation and the Federal Marshals, along with local law enforcement, converged on Summer Chase Apartments on Popps Ferry Road Monday in the hopes of finding him there.

"Our officers followed up on information provided by Officer Wheeler, which was good information, and effected the arrest," said WPD Chief Matt Barnett. "They effected the arrest and did a great job."

"I hope the family of Officer McKeithen got some rest and some peace and I hope the Biloxi PD got some rest knowing this guy is off the streets."

A photo published of Atkinson showed him wearing a St. Martin High School baseball shirt, however a Jackson County School District press release clarified that he had not attended the district's schools.

"On behalf of Dr. Barry Amacker, superintendent of Jackson County School District: Please make it known to the public that even though the suspect arrested in connection to

Mother's Day: Not about the gifts

This Sunday, we will celebrate Mother's Day. I'm sure by now, most people are scrambling to decide what special gift or flower arrangement to give to their mothers.

I'm guilty of that, too, and am always asking my mom if there is anything she would like. In the past few years, I've just been taking her out for a nice brunch.

This year, I learned a little more about Mother's Day. After a quick Google search, I discovered that Anna Jarvis founded the holiday in the early 1900s.

"Following her mother's 1905 death, Jarvis conceived of Mother's Day as a way of honoring the sacrifices mothers made for their children," history.com states.

In May 1908, Jarvis organized the first Mother's Day celebration at a Methodist Church in Grafton, West Virginia.

For several years, Jarvis fought to have Mother's Day added to the national calendar and wrote letters to newspapers and politicians.

In 1914, President Woodrow Wilson signed a measure and established the second Sunday in May as Mother's Day, the website states.

Jarvis' vision for Mother's Day involved a day of "personal celebration between mothers and families. Her version of the day involved wearing a white carnation as a badge and visiting one's mother or attending church services."

However, once it became a national holiday, florists, card companies, and other merchants began to capitalize on the day, according to history.com, and by 1920 Jarvis had become disgusted with the commercialization of the holiday, and urged people to stop buying Mother's Day flowers, cards and candies.

Jarvis led a campaign against those that profited from Mother's Day and filed several lawsuits against groups that used the name Mother's Day altogether.

Prior to her death in 1948, Jarvis had disowned the holiday and even lobbied the government to see it removed from the American calendar.

I can completely relate to Jarvis' feelings on the holiday, as I have been making a more conscious effort to be a smarter consumer and not give in to the constant push to buy the newest and shiny thing.

Specifically this year, I put myself on a makeup and skincare (an area in my life that I can definitely spend too much money on) low buy. Instead of buying the newest item on the market, I've challenged myself to use up what I have and only purchase something when I run out. Have I stumbled a bit this year? Yes. But I've not spent nearly as much or accumulated as much stuff as in recent years.

If there's one thing losing everything in Hurricane Katrina taught me, is that stuff is just that, stuff.

In recent years, it has become a struggle for me to find the perfect gift for my parents and other loved ones.

I'm not sure why I feel this pressure to always pur-

Appreciate your mother

One of the greatest blessing to us all is the love of our mothers.

I lost my mother seven years ago. It is still painful to think of that day. There has been a big hole in my heart ever since. I lost the one person in the world who loved me unconditionally.

I also lost a fundamental connection to the world. I came from her body. Now her body is gone.

For those who still have their mothers, take Mother's Day seriously. Their sacrifice is beyond measure. Let them know how much it means to you.

I watch my wife Ginny constantly sacrifice her time, energy and emotional well-being for our children. It is amazing. I'm not sure a man can ever understand the power of the maternal instinct.

I have occasionally battled the maternal instinct when I believed my children needed to be more accountable for their actions and stand on their own two feet. It is a formidable adversary and rarely defeated.

I can remember the millions of things my mother did for me without a second thought. At the time, I took it for granted, but now that she is gone, her love and kindness seems overwhelming.

I am grateful I had her long enough to have the maturity to thank her many, many times for what she had done. And I am grateful I had the chance to take care of her in her last few years and repay just an iota of what she gave to me. Her last words to me were, "You are the greatest son a mother could ever have." All I did was get her a Burger King plain cheeseburger.

Mother's Day is a relatively new holiday, starting around 1910. We can thank Anna Marie Jarvis of West Virginia for that. Wikipedia states: "Her mother had frequently expressed a desire for the establishment of such a holiday, and after her mother's death, Jarvis led the movement for the commemoration. However, as the years passed, Jarvis grew disenchanted with the growing commercialization of the observation (she herself did not profit from the day) and even attempted to have Mother's Day rescinded. Jarvis argued that people should appreciate and honor their mothers through handwritten letters expressing their love and gratitude, instead of buying gifts and pre-made cards. She died in a sanitarium, her medical bills paid by people in the floral and greeting card industries."

Initially, Congress rejected the holiday. One Congressman joked that it would soon lead to the establishment of a Mother-in-Law's Day.

In 1914, Woodrow Wilson signed a proclamation designating Mother's Day, held on the second Sunday in May, as a national holiday to honor mothers.

Mother-in-Law's Day never happened, but after decades of fits and starts, in 1966, President Lyndon B. Johnson issued the first presidential proclamation honoring fathers, designating the third Sunday in June as Father's Day. Congress resisted all those decades because they feared excessive commercialization.

My father didn't like all the Mother's Day commercialization and used that as an excuse one year not to get his mother a card. "I'll never make that mistake again," he advised me on many occasions.

Mother's Day is also an opportunity to point out a rather monumental demographic development occurring in our state, country and world: There are fewer and

May is National Bike Month

National Bike Month is great inspiration and motivation for everyone to get out and cycle, especially as the weather gets warmer as we have been witnessing here in Mississippi. The League of American Bicyclists is promoting Bike to Work Week from May 13 ? 19, 2019, and Bike to Work Day on Friday, May 17. Now is a great time to discuss bike safety.

First and foremost, the helmet is a very important piece of safety equipment. By law, all helmets sold in the U.S. must meet standards set by the Consumer Products Safety Commission (CPSC). Some helmets are also endorsed by the nonprofit Snell Foundation, but the CPSC stamp of approval is what matters. Improperly wearing a helmet can be more dangerous than not wearing one at all. For a proper fitting helmet, make sure no more than three fingers fit between the chin and the helmet strap. When pushing the helmet from the back forward, the helmet should not touch the bridge of the nose. It should sit squarely and securely one or two fingers above the eyebrow. When pushing the helmet upward and back from the front, the helmet should not go above the forehead.

Some rules of the road are: Obey all traffic regulations, signs, signals and markings. Bicycles are subject to the same rules of vehicular traffic, wherever they apply. Observe all local ordinances pertaining to bike safety. It is your responsibility to know them and obey them. Keep right: drive with the traffic, not against it. Drive single file. Keep as close to the curb as practical. Watch out for drain grates, soft shoulders and other road surface hazards. Watch out for car doors opening and for cars pulling into traffic.

Don't carry passengers or packages that interfere with your vision or control. Never hitch a ride on a truck or other vehicle. Use hand signals to indicate turning or stopping. Protect yourself at night with the required reflectors and lights. Be extremely careful at intersections, especially when making a left turn. Most accidents happen at intersections. Drive your bike defensively; watch out for the other person.

Biking will allow you to not only enjoy your surroundings; you will also save money – especially with the price of gas in the mid-three dollar range – and enjoy some healthy benefits. Cycling reduces air, water and noise pollution. You don't have to pay for automobile insurance or gasoline. You will reduce stress and improve your cardio vascular health, which is something that many Mississippians need to be thinking about.

Riding your bike is a fun, life?long activity you can enjoy in a variety of climates. It is also a great means to see the world around you.

In honor of National Bike Month, National Bike?to?Work Week and Bike?to?Work Day, watch your local paper, television or listen to your local radio for specific events in your community.

contractor noted in 2015 and 2016 that there was about 29 percent and 18 percent, respectively, of the species Aedes.

In response to trapping, the contractor responded in the report that, "the Mississippi Department of Health currently only tests trapped mosquitoes through these months (March to October). For the months of November, December, January, and February, it is not typically warm enough for mosquito activity, so trapping was kept to a minimal."

The total amount of chemicals purchased from the date of the contract (2016) through April was 234 gallons, Favre said. "Based on the manufacturer's product information sheet, that would provide coverage, diluted, to almost 400,000 acres," Favre said. "During that same time period, reports show that we've treated two million acres. Based on the information we have, we're not sure whether or not there's been a sufficient amount of chemicals purchased to actually treat the amount of acreage."

Favre said that he recommends submitting the report to the contractor and asking if there's any more information that could be submitted before the next meeting in response to the county's findings.

"At that point, we can sit down, finalize this report and see which direction we need to go," Favre said. "If there's something that's incorrect, inaccurate, misleading in this report, we'd like to find the documentation to correct it if there is anything and go from there."

Philip's Pest Control

owner Philip Moran was in attendance Monday and requested an executive session with the board.

Board attorney Gary Yarborough said the only basis the board has to go into executive is to discuss litigation and that Moran is not personnel, but rather a contractor.

"There's a real simple explanation that I'd like to explain to you all," Moran said. "That would clarify what he was talking about earlier." Yarborough said that Moran is welcome to respond in writing.

"I haven't heard litigation," Yarborough said. "At this point, we're sending a request for information. If you want to respond now, that's fine. If you want to respond in writing, that's fine. I don't think it's proper to go in there and discuss it in executive session."

The board did not enter into executive session.

Moran said the next report will "explain and clarify the discrepancies in the mileage."

A full copy of the compliance review can be viewed on the Echo's website at www.seacoastecho.com.

In other action:

Favre told the board that he received an estimate for repairs to Possum Walk Trail. Last year, the trail was damaged in a fire. It is now closed to the public. Favre said the estimate for repairs is about $158,480. The boardwalk replacement is about $72,800. The second part of the estimate deals with ongoing maintenance, which has nothing to do with the fire damage, Favre said. That estimate is about $85,680.

LaFontaine and Supervisor Scotty Adam both said they would rather repair both problems at the trail at once. The board also discussed using GOMESA funds and said the project could be done during this fiscal year.

In the U. S. births are exceeding deaths by a mere million births a year. At that rate, the U. S. will only grow three percent every decade. And the number of births minus deaths continues to decline rapidly. The U.S. will soon quit replacing its population without immigration.

Countries constituting half the population of the world are below the replacement rate, including all of China and Europe. Indeed, if current trends continue, the entire world population will start to shrink in a few decades.

This trend is clear in Mississippi. White deaths have exceeded births for the last three years. Black births are still exceeding deaths, but the downward trend is just as rapid as the white population. Looking at the trend line, Mississippi could have more deaths than births within five years.

Development is driving this trend.

The highest population growth is in the poor countries and vice versa. In poor countries, a child is another field hand. In America, children are estimated to cost $220,000 to raise.

But don't despair. One major study indicated that a high level of affluence can positively affect fertility rates.

If you have a whole lot of money, you can afford more children.

All this just goes to show we need to appreciate our mothers even more. They are growing shorter in supply. When we watch how much they sacrifice, it's no wonder!

Gifts

chase a gift or a fancy meal to let the people in my life know that I care.

Every time I talk to my parents on the phone, we always say "I love you" prior to hanging up.

Last weekend, I hung out with my dad and mom and we watched the Kentucky Derby, a yearly tradition.

Just like our Christmas tradition of watching "It's a Wonderful Life." It's memories like that I remember, not what gifts we exchange.

Now I'm not encouraging people to stop buying flowers, gifts, or fancy meals for your mothers. Maybe just encouraging becoming a smarter consumer and thinking constructively about your purchases.

Or just give your mother the gift of your time, which is something I need to work harder at.

Life passes by so quickly and we never know when our time is up.

Some may not live near their mothers, but with today's technology, they are just a phone or video call away.

I'm grateful I live near my mom and will be able to spend the day with her.

She has always been a great mom and never shied away from being tough on her daughters when she had to.

In recent years, I've admired the way she takes of my dad's health needs. He is not the easiest of patients, but she persists in her efforts.

She is a wonderful grandparent to my nephew Nate and I love seeing their interaction. And it's true, grandparents are way more lenient with their grandchildren.

I hope you all have a wonderful Mother's Day.

PUBLIC NOTICE

FORMER HANCOCK COUNTY BOMBING AND GUNNERY RANGE RESTORATION ADVISORY BOARD

The former Hancock County Bombing and Gunnery Range (BGR) is located just northwest of Bay St. Louis, Mississippi within the Stennis Space Center (SSC) Fee and Buffer Zones. The former Hancock County BGR was established in the early 1940s to train combat crews flying B-17s. It consisted of 30,622 acres and included three gunnery and bombing ranges, a rifle range, two machine gun ranges and a ground strafing range. The Army, Navy and Air Force continued to use the site until 1963. In 1962, acquisition of the land for National Aeronautics and Space Administration was begun for the establishment of the Mississippi Test Facility (later to become SSC). The former Hancock County BGR has been designated as a Department of Defense (DoD) Formerly Used Defense Site (DERP-FUDS A04MS0118). The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers (USACE) is investigating and remediating portions of the site that were once part of the former bombing and small arms ranges. USACE has worked closely with the Mississippi Department of Environmental Quality to establish and follow remedial actions protective of human health and the environment.

The DoD encourages community involvement in the environmental restoration process. A Restoration Advisory Board (RAB) is one of many methods the USACE may use to facilitate public participation at a Formerly Used Defense Site. RABs provide a collaborative forum for the community, government agencies, tribes and installation decision makers to discuss and identify the most efficient and productive means to restore the environment. RAB members are asked to meet regularly to review and comment on technical documents and plans relating to the ongoing environmental studies and restoration activities at the former Hancock County BGR. Members will be expected to serve as liaisons with the community and be available to meet with community members and groups. RAB members serve as volunteers and provide individual advice to decision makers on environmental restoration plans for the former Hancock County BGR.

The USACE Mobile District welcomes public feedback regarding interest in establishing a RAB for the former Hancock County BGR no later than June 3, 2019. Inquiries or questions should be submitted to:

An Information Repository, which documents the rationale for all remedial action decisions for this site, is maintained and accessible to the community at the USACE Mobile District, 109 St. Joseph St., Mobile, AL 36602.

PEGGY HOPKINS EAGAN

Peggy Hopkins Eagan, 90, of New Orleans, Louisiana and Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, passed away peacefully on April 30, 2019.

The quintessential southern wife and mother, her genuine concern and sweetness for all, touched not only our hearts, but our waistlines. To Peggy, family was everything and she embraced each and every person that came across her path, making them feel special and loved.

The only daughter of Lillian Norman Marceaux and William Paul Hopkins, Peggy was raised by her paternal grandmother, Pauline Pique Hopkins, and fell in love with and married "the boy next door," Frederick Leitz "Fritz" Eagan. She attended Sophie B. Wright School and Newcomb College. Peggy was deeply devoted to the preservation of St. Joseph Chapel in Bay St. Louis until its destruction by Hurricane Katrina in 2005.

She loved her garden in Bay St. Louis and took great pride in her day lilies, flowers and majestic oak trees.

Peggy was preceded in death by her parents and grandmother, her husband Fritz, her grandson John Craft Crane and her son-in-law, Hjalmar Breit III, as well as many family pets, including her most precious cat, "Tar Baby". She is survived by her children, Frederick "Rick" Leitz Eagan (Beryl), Polly Eagan, Deborah L. Eagan (Bill) and Ellen E. Eagan-McNeill (Rob); four grandchildren, James Judson Crane (Greg), Courtney Clerc Eagan, Caroline Eagan Hebert (Nick) and Frederick "Fred" Leitz Eagan III (Lisa) and two beautiful great granddaughters, Chloe Clerc Eagan and Isabelle Clerc Hebert; along with countless nieces and nephews and adoptees, who knew her simply as "Aunt Peggy".

The family would like to thank the staff at the Christwood Community and St. Tammany Hospice, especially Nancy Hyde Evans and Ashley Gagnon, for their compassion and dedication to Peggy. And thankful prayers to Hjalmar, who remembered to follow directions.

Family and friends are invited to attend a Christian Mass at 3 pm, followed by a Celebration of Life from 4 pm to 6 pm, at Leitz Eagan Funeral Home, 4747 Veterans Memorial Blvd., Metairie, Louisiana 70006 on Tuesday, May 7, 2019.

In lieu of flowers, please make donations to Hancock County Animal Shelter in Kiln, Mississippi or a charity of your choice.

Condolences may be left online at www.leitzeaganfuneralhome.com

Rocks bow out of post-season with series loss to Sumrall

BY JOSEPH W. GEX, II
STAFF WRITER

The St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaws (25-9) bowed out of the Class 4A state baseball playoffs with a 11-0 loss to the Sumrall Bobcats on Monday evening at the Brother Philip Memorial Athletic Complex.

The Bobcats (30-5) have lost just three times inside of the state of Mississippi in 2019 with one loss each to Greene County, Pass Christian, and St. Stanislaus.

After last Thursday's 11-1 loss the Rocks rebounded on the road to collect a 5-3 victory forcing a third game in the series.

In game two, Peyton Sandrock went 5 2/3 innings allowing six hits, three runs and fanning six batters.

In the game, Colin Fredrickson tallied two hits and a RBI while Trace Rhodes and Dawson Strong added a single and an RBI.

Braxton Bean and Corban O'Bannon each had two hits and Taylor Lafontaine, Sandrock, and Cole Fletcher all had singles.

The two teams were supposed to play on Saturday but severe weather forced a cancellation of the game until Monday.

In game three, the Rocks managed just two hits in the contest while Sumrall belted out 11 hits forging 11 runs en route to the run-ruled decision 11-0.

Strong had a double and Rhodes tallied a single.

However, the damage had been done and Sumrall (30-5) advanced to the Class 4A South State championship against West Lauderdale. That series begins on

Mims said the reason she decided to start her school is because she saw so "many people, black and white, stand on the corner with absolutely no direction and a lot of them end up in jail."

Mims said she had a proposal submitted to WIN Job Center for funding.

"Nothing is being done to help me," she said.

She said she joined the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce and said she asked to host one of the monthly business events and said she was told that "it costs too much money."

Sims said she was going to get help from the Rum Kitchen and a fabric store to host a fashion show.

Mims said she asked to host the events in June and July.

"She said, 'No, I don't think you should do that, you have to pay for food and drinks and it's very costly,'" Mims said. "What you should do is help hold your own event, pay us $200 and we'll post it on our website."

Mims said she wanted to know why she had to "jump through the hoops" and "would they have done that to any other business?"

She said she hasn't heard a response from the Chamber after leaving messages on the Chamber's Facebook page.

"I want to remind you that not one time has one black person ever hosted that event in the history of that organization," Mims said.

Mims said she saw that PRCC received $4 million and googled the history of PRCC.

"Pearl River, when it first started, was a high school," she said. "They didn't even have a place to put books in. But the community got behind them and funded them and now they're a college."

Mims said she is a "full-fledged college" and "licensed by the State of Mississippi."

Mims said the only reason cosmetology is not offered at her college is because of a lack of educational material.

Sims added that she wants to introduce a job-ready program for high school juniors and seniors. Upon graduation from high school, the students will have a professional license, she said.

Sims said the mayor of Bay St. Louis is "100 percent for it." She said that she's sent correspondence to the superintendent of schools and the mayor of Waveland and has received no response, as of yet.

Sims said that she was the first black female to own a barber college in the state of Mississippi and has sacrificed to help her school.

"I can't get any help from anywhere," she said. "No matter where I go. I'm not lying when I tell you because I've got the track record and I got the paperwork to prove everything I've said. I did my due diligence. I started and asked where, when, and how many schools around me. I was lied to over, and over, and over again. Why I'm here is just to simply expose it. Because as long as I keep it in the dark and don't say anything, it's going to continue to happen. It's been seven years."

Sims said when she's asked "who gives the dollars?" people respond with "I don't know."

Board President Blaine LaFontaine asked Mims what she is asking the board to do.

"All entities that you have mentioned, the board has no direct oversight or ability other than trying to point you and assist you in the right direction," he said. "I think we're all willing to do that. But again, WIN Job Center, Hancock County, SMPDD, Hancock Chamber, and all these entities, we have no direct ability to make their decisions and try to appropriate anything."

Mims said, "It's tag you're it."

"I use you as a forum for me to get this out so people can see it," she said. "When I walk out this door, they will know the problem is real. Because when I meet with each party individually, I get a 'no.' I'm a grown woman with an education and I'm willing to stand and let them know you can't treat us like that no more. I deserve better, my students deserve better. The school is excellent. Inside the school is beautiful, on the outside, the building is falling apart. I can't get no help from anybody. The bottom line is that I'm tired of being handled. See me, when you see me, I'm a full-figured black woman, proud of what I've done and what I'm trying to accomplish. They can take a high school and a community can get behind them to turn into a junior college, why can't we (sic) Transitions too?"

LaFontaine told Mims that her seven-year commitment to the community is appreciated and that the board is willing to provide guidance.

"Hancock County is made of many small business owners," he said.

Mims said there's only "three black" business owners in Hancock County.

"There's me, there's B.J., and then you got two barber shops," Mims said. "But we don't have any black businesses in Bay St. Louis and Waveland, I can say that for a fact."

OLD TOWN CELEBRATES MOMS FOR ARTWALK

BY CAROLINE ST. PAUL and DENISE K. JACOBS

The Old Town Merchants Association (OTMA) and its members invite you to experience the Second Saturday Art Walk this Saturday, May 11, as they celebrate Mother's Day a little early. Also known as Second Saturday, the event has become a regional favorite and regularly draws visitors from New Orleans to Biloxi.

Each month during Second Saturday, two OTMA members are featured as Hot Spots, and Bay Books and the Creole Creamery are this month's picks. Between 4 p.m. and 7 p.m., visitors can stop by the Hot Spots and other shops for refreshments and live music. Bring the kids! Pass a good time.

JEREMY BURKE, OWNER OF BAY BOOKS, WHICH IS ONE OF THE HOT SPOTS FOR THIS MONTH'S SECOND SATURDAY ARTWALK. BURKE AND HIS WIFE PURCHASED THE STORE IN 2011. BAY BOOKS

Bay Books, located on Main Street, is the quintessential small town book store. That is just what owner, Jeremy Burke, wanted to open in Old Town.

Burke and his wife purchased the store in 2011. He recalls, "Whenever we found out it was for sale, we knew we just had to go buy it because we didn't want our community, or county, without an independent bookstore."

stores, at Bay Books, there is a real sense of community and personalization present. One of Burke's favorite parts about owning the shop is "being an asset to the community." He works to have a relationship with the local schools, and makes sure to carry the books that the students need.

Children's literacy played a large part in inspiring Burke to open Bay Books. "Literacy is a big thing for us, especially kid's literacy," he said. Upon opening, his "first order of business" was expanding the children's section. There, you will find options for newborns to teenagers.

Another best-seller are the local books. Burke strives to "stock as many local books, as well as local authors, that we can." You will also find independent and self-published authors here as well. "We want to be able to have something that nobody else has."

CREOLE CREAMERY
Everyone loves ice cream! Experience New Orleans flavor at Creole Creamery on the Bay. The happy little ice cream shop was opened by Jim MacPhaille just in time for Cruisin’ the Coast in October, 2018. MacPhaille chose to open a location in Bay St. Louis, as he saw it as a great spot that is growing every day. Located on Prytania Street in New Orleans, The Creole Creamery has become an iconic part of the city. Now, this New Orleans favorite can be experienced in Old Town, as the ice cream is home-made, and shipped into town every Friday. The interior of the shop was also purposely designed to resemble the popular spot in New Orleans.

Pink and white checkered floors and the smell of freshly made waffle cones welcome you into the shop, where you’ll be greeted by manager, Hannah McRainey, or another delightful employee.

Taste some of their best sellers, Black & Gold Crunch, Cookie Monster, Creole Cream Cheese, or Lavender Honey. You will not be disappointed in the unique flavors here, with options changing with the seasons.

Hannah’s favorite part about managing the shop is “interacting with people and the kids” as well as the tourists, and answering any questions they have. “We’ve been here for a short amount of time, but we have a lot of regulars, and I look forward to seeing them” she says. “Who can be mad in an ice cream shop?” You are guaranteed to walk out of The Creole Creamery happy and satisfied.

The shop/s hours are currently 1 p.m.-9 p.m. on Monday through Thursday, 1 p.m.-10 p.m. on Friday, 12 p.m.-10 p.m. on Saturday, and 12 p.m.-9 p.m. on Sunday, with the hours changing for the summer months. Visit today and experience delicious ice cream at Creole Creamery on the Bay!

Entertainment for May 11 Second Saturday Art Walk is sponsored by Hancock/Whitney Bank, The People’s Bank, and

The First. Enjoy them as a hot spot all month.

GALLERY 220 FEATURES ARTIST PAM MARSHALL
The featured Gallery 220 artist for May 2019 is Pam Marshall, a watercolor artist who is a signature member of the National Watercolor Society. In addition to the window display at Gallery 220, you can find Marshall’s new work on display inside during the Second Saturday Art Walk on May 11. In addition to her watercolor paintings and mixed-media collages, Marshall has taken classes in mosaics, stained glass, fusing glass, glass-bead making, and jewelry design. This combination of classes has inspired a marriage of mixed-media elements that Marshall uses to create her collage art. The pieces are finished with a clear coat of resin that leaves an impression of time standing still. The unusual gathering of paper, stone, and shells mimics the ebbs and tides in the natural world. Subjects include sea life and abstracts. Marshall is one of 28 local artists at Gallery 220 Main.

The public is invited to see her new work during the Second Saturday Art Walk from 4-8 pm. The gallery is located two blocks north of the beach in Bay St. Louis, at the corner of Main and Toulme Streets.

The government’s business is your business.

And Mississippians count on their newspapers to keep apprised of public notice advertising.

Half of Mississippi adults recall reading or seeing public notice advertising in a local or state newspaper.

And almost half (46%) of adults who have seen public notice advertising prefer to receive them in a printed newspaper, much higher than any other source.

Most Mississippians (87%) say keeping the public informed through public notices and legal advertising is an important requirement for government agencies. And the preferred method of receiving these notices is in a printed newspaper along with their associated websites.

According to a 2013 Advertising and Media Use Survey*, legal ads in printed newspapers have a much higher credibility than other media.

Over 1.5 million Mississippians read their local newspaper. Whether in print, online or on the go, newspapers are the leading source of information for Mississippi.

Disability Connection receives a Mississippi Gulf Coast National Heritage Area Community Grant

SEA COAST ECHO

Disability Connection has been awarded a Mississippi Gulf Coast National Heritage Area Community Grant to produce the third Gulf Coast Heritage Tours documentary called “Celebrate our Waterways.” “Celebrate our Waterways” encourages people to enjoy the beautiful blueways in the Southern 6 Mississippi Counties: the rivers, bays, and the Gulf. The project identifies a wide variety of scenic and outdoor recreational activities that can be enjoyed by all ages and abilities.

Disability Connection has designed the Gulf Coast Heritage Tours Project (Tours) to preserve and promote the Mississippi Gulf Coast National Heritage Area through educating and connecting the public to cultural, historical, recreational, and scenic resources. “Tours” also tells the stories of the people: their cultural and ethnic heritages, their industries, churches, traditions, foods, festivals, and events that are still present to enjoy today. The second Heritage Tours film features the story of the people who settled on the Gulf Coast: Native American, French, Irish, Spanish, Danish, Croatian, Greek, Italian, African-American, Indian, Jewish, Vietnamese, German, Lebanese, and Finnish.

Please visit www.DisabilityConnection.org to view two inspiring Films about this Gulf Coast Heritage Tour Project which were developed in partnership with Walt Grayson, featured state-wide host of Mississippi Roads and Look around Mississippi. This project was made possible by a Mississippi Gulf Coast National Heritage Area Grant from the Mississippi Department of Marine Resources and the National Park Service.

The Gulf Coast Heritage Tour Information Center is on-line at www.DisabilityConnection.org. The Center hosts two 25 minute documentaries plus a collection of about 30 Heritage Moments, mini-films that showcase people and locations in South Mississippi that are part of our coast's heritage. It also includes information on almost 150 places to visit and enjoy. The Center hosts promotional materials, maps, and downloadable brochures to assist visitors in planning and setting priorities for their tours including accessibility accommodations for those traveling who have physical challenges to travel.

The program is intended to create and maintain a nationwide legacy of high quality recreation areas and facilities and to stimulate non-federal investments in the protection and maintenance of recreation resources across the United States.

The Gulf Coast Heritage Tours Project is universally designed to be inclusive for all individuals regardless of their disabilities. The Project provides vital information for 20% of the population who want to travel but need information to accommodate a disability: seniors, children with disabilities, people who are blind, deaf, or have mobility impairments. Universally designed trips take into consideration all of the accommodations needed for travelers with functional challenges to enjoy the trip.

Rummage sale set at Ruth's Roots on June 8

SEA COAST ECHO

Elise Deano will host a rummage sale on June 8 at her law office to benefit Ruth's Roots, the fabulous community garden she and volunteers started three years ago.

"Please consider donating your spring cleaning items to us," Deano said. "Clean out your attic, your storage shed, your garage! Items can be dropped off at my office. Thank you to those that have already dropped off!"

"We are accepting everything. However, clothing is difficult to display and organize. We will gladly accept your clothing, but here is what we are doing with it: 1.). Children's clothing will be passed on to Kimberly Marquar Adam-Boushie who runs a clothing closet for foster kids. Often children are dropped off with no clothing or just one outfit and the foster parents are left scrambling to find clothes. This will help the children and the foster parents and makes my heart happy;

2.). Men and Women's work clothes (suits, dress slacks, blouses, button-downs, etc.) will be given to Karen Stobbs Aderer to put at USM's clothing closet for folks entering or returning to the workplace that need outfits; and 3.) all other clothing will be given to Jacob's Well thrift store (Jossette Staten Thompson, Susan Haynes Johnson) Their sales support the recovery center they run for both men and women. I have a passion for helping people overcome addiction, and these folks and their work/mission is amazing."

For more information, visit the Facebook page "Ruth's Roots".

Artist Hunter Cole presents Living Light

An exhibit that features photos of bacteria that creates its own illumination

SEA COAST ECHO

Art and science comes together in a new multi-media exhibit Living Light which incorporates science through the use of creative and innovative techniques. Artist and Scientist Dr. Hunter Cole will present her innovative techniques and methodology in this multi-media installation.

According to Cole; "Art and science have always been mutually inclusive for me. Science serves as a vehicle for expressing my creativity and artistry.

Art serves as a motivation to interpret our living world."

The Mississippi Insurance Department asks: 'What's in Your Go Bag?'

SEA COAST ECHO

JACKSON, Miss. — Most people don't prepare for disasters until it's too late. The Mississippi Insurance Department is urging individuals and families to pack a bag with post-disaster essentials.

This is especially important as the 2019 Atlantic hurricane season starts in less than one month. Additionally, May 6-10, 2019 is Hurricane Preparedness Week in Mississippi.

Go Bag contents may vary by region and family situation, but here are several items you should include:

Cash: If the power goes out, credit cards won't work. Keep cash on hand for replenishing supplies.

Medications: Pharmacies might be closed, and hospitals could be overwhelmed. It is imperative that you pack any necessary medications and assume you may not have access to refills for several days.

A battery-powered radio: If electricity is out and cell towers are down, this is the best way to know what's happening.
